Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Secondary-School Mathematics, Vol. 1 This text differs widely from that marked out by custom and tradition. It treats the various branches of mathematics more with reference to their unities and less as isolated entities (sciences). It seeks to give pupils usable knowledge of the principles underlying mathematics and ready control of them. These texts are not an experiment; they were thoroughly tried out in mimeograph form on hundreds of high school pupils before being put into book form. The scope of Books I and II does not vary greatly from that covered in algebras and geometries of the usual type. However, Book I is different in that arithmetic, algebra, and geometry are treated side by side. The effect of this arrangement is increased interest and power of analysis on the part of the learner, and greater accuracy in results. Some pupils like arithmetic, others like algebra, still others like geometry; the change is helpful in keeping up interest. The study of geometry forces analysis at every step and stage; consequently written problems and problems to be stated have no terrors for those who are taught in this way. For several years mathematical associations have urged that all work should be based upon the equation. In accordance with this view we have made the demonstrations in this book largely algebraic, thus making the demonstration essentially a study in simultaneous equations. In this method of treatment, we have found it advantageous not to hurry the work. Pupils gain power, not in solving many problems, but in analyzing and thoroughly understanding the principles of a few.
