TO THE bowers whereat, in dreams, I see The wantonest singing birds, Arc lips -- and all thy melody Of lip-begotten words; Thine eyes, in Heaven of heart enshrined, Then desolately fall, O God! on my funereal mind Like starlight on a pall; Thy heart -- thy heart! -- I wake and sigh, And sleep to dream till day Of the truth that gold can never buy Of the bawbles that it may. rA DREAM IN visions of the dark night I have dreamed of joy departed, But a waking dream of life and light Hath left me broken-hearted. Ah! what is not a dream by day To him whose eyes are cast On things around him with a ray Turned back upon the past? That holy dream, that holy dream, While all the world were chiding, Hath cheered me as a lovely...
